

Flavia was mostly used to therapists and got close to people from school who were open and kind to her. She had a really bad luck with school approaches/ a lot of neglecting/students of not proper age or interest.

She is quite independent, except for going outside and very curious for new things. She learned English by herself as first language at 3 years old, but is open to learning languages.

In her free time she is watching videos and doing video games, creating video animations on her own where she expresses her feelings, anyhow showing her creativity. Lego Friends are her favorites.
